Wednesday 7 October, 7:30pm (NZDT)
Dr Stephen Shaw BVetMed PhD DVD MRCVS

ALLERGY, BACTERIA & YEASTS: A PRACTICAL APPROACH TO THE ITCHY DOG
In this educational and informative webinar, Dr Stephen Shaw from UK Vetderm shares his practical approach to the itchy dog. The importance of recognising, confirming and treating bacterial and yeast infection during your workup is key.

Wednesday 14 October, 7:30pm (NZDT)
Dr Mandy Burrows BSc BVMS MANZCVS (Canine Medicine) FANZCVS (Dermatology)

CHANGING IDEAS IN THE ROLE OF FOODS IN CANINE ATOPIC DERMATITIS: CAN FOOD TRIGGER ITCH
What is the link between food allergy and atopic dermatitis? Concurrent environmental and dietary triggers for canine atopic dermatitis are recognised in clinical practice. Australian Veterinary Dermatologist Dr Mandy Burrows will cover the changing concept of how food can be involved as a trigger for itch in the atopic dog.

Wednesday 21 October, 7:30pm (NZDT)
Dr Nick Cave BVSc MVSc PhD MACVSc DipACVN

AFTER THE DIAGNOSIS: MANAGING PATIENTS WITH ADVERSE FOOD REACTIONS IN THE LONG TERM
Dr Nick Cave from Massey University talks through some practical solutions to common & frustrating questions related to the long term management of adverse food reactions: How can one identify the allergen(s) of importance? How can you easily find a suitable diet to feed the animal long term? How long can you feed an unbalanced meat-based diet for?

Wednesday 28 October, 7:30pm (NZDT)
Dr Duncan Graham BVSc, BSc (Hons) MASVetDerm

THE SECRET LIFE OF DERMATOLOGISTS: BREED RELATED DERMATOSES & THE CLINICAL DISTRIBUTION OF LESIONS
Dr Duncan Graham from Animal Dermatology NZ gives us a sneak peak in to how vet dermatologists work up their patients. This interesting and informative webinar will focus on common breed related dermatoses and lesion distribution typically seen in practice.

EACH WEBINAR QUALIFIES FOR 1 CPD POINT UNDER THE NZVA CPD FRAMEWORK FOR VETS, AND 1 AVNP POINT FOR VET NURSES
Contact details of CE provider: Royal Canin NZ, PO Box 21-385, Henderson, Auckland 0650, Phone 0800 992 001

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER NOW
or visit www.rcevents.co.nz